

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF NEW JERSEY - TRENTON

DANIEL ZEMEL, on behalf of himself, and all others similarly situated,

Plaintiff,

CSC HOLDINGS LLC,

Defendant.

Case No.:

CLASS ACTION COMPLAINT AND JURY DEMAND

Daniel Zemel brings this class action complaint on behalf of himself and on behalf of all others similarly situated (“Plaintiff”) against Defendant Cablevision Systems Corporation Holdings, LLC (“CSC Holdings” or “Defendant”) to stop Defendant’s practice of sending unsolicited text messages to telephones of consumers nationwide in violation of the Telephone Consumer Protection Act, 47 U.S.C. § 227 et seq., (“TCPA”), and to obtain redress for all persons injured by its conduct. Plaintiff alleges as follows upon personal knowledge as to his own acts and experiences and, as to all other matters, upon information and belief, including investigation conducted by his attorneys.

NATURE OF THE ACTION

1. The TCPA strictly forbids nuisance text messages exactly like those alleged in this Complaint – intrusive text messages to private cellular phones whose phone numbers are obtained without the prior express consent of the call recipients.

2. CSC Holdings engages in cable operation in the United States. CSC Holdings' actions violated Plaintiff's statutory rights and caused Plaintiff actual harm, including aggravation, nuisance, and invasion of privacy that necessarily accompanies the receipt of unsolicited text messages.

3. Plaintiff seeks an injunction stopping CSC Holdings from sending unsolicited text messages, as well as an award of statutory damages under the TCPA, together with costs and reasonable attorneys' fees.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

4. This Court has federal question subject matter jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1331, as the action arises under the Telephone Consumer Protection Act, 47 U.S.C. § 227 et seq., a federal statute. Mims v. Arrow Financial Services, LLC, 132 S.Ct. 740, 751-53 (2012); Brill v. Countrywide Home Loans, Inc., 427 F.3d 446 (7th Cir. 2005). Subject matter jurisdiction over this action is further appropriate in this Court pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(2), because (i) at least one member of the putative Class is a citizen of a state different than Defendant, (ii) the amount in controversy exceeds $5,000,000.00, exclusive of interest and costs, and (iii) none of the exceptions under that subsection apply to this action.

5. The Court has personal jurisdiction over Defendant and venue is proper in this District because Defendant transacts significant amounts of business within this District.

6. Specifically, personal jurisdiction over Defendant is proper in this District because Defendant, at all times herein mentioned, conducted business in the county of Essex, State of New Jersey, and a substantial part of the events giving rise to the claims occurred in this jurisdiction. Additionally, Defendant holds a business license in New Jersey, Entity ID 0600360378.

PARTIES

7. Plaintiff Daniel Zemel is, and at all times mentioned was, a resident of the State of New Jersey. He is, and at all times mentioned herein, was a “person” as defined by 47 U.S.C. § 153 (39).

8. Defendant CSC Holdings, is a Delaware Corporation, headquartered in Nassau County, New York and is a “person” as defined by 47 U.S.C. § 153 (39).

9. Plaintiff alleges that at all times relevant herein CSC Holdings conducted business in the State of New Jersey and within this District.

THE TELEPHONE CONSUMERS PROTECTION ACT OF 1991 (“TCPA”) 47 U.S.C. §§ 227 et seq.

10. In 1991, Congress enacted the Telephone Consumer Protection Act, 47 U.S.C. § 227 (TCPA),<sup>1</sup> in response to a growing number of consumer complaints regarding certain telemarketing practices.

11. The TCPA regulates, among other things, the use of automated telephone equipment, or “autodialers.” Specifically, the plain language of section 227(b)(1)(A)(iii) prohibits the use of autodialers to make any call to a wireless number in the absence of an emergency or the prior express consent of the called party.<sup>2</sup>

12. According to findings by the Federal Communication Commission (“FCC”), the agency Congress vested with authority to issue regulations implementing the TCPA, such calls are prohibited because, as Congress found, automated or prerecorded telephone calls are a greater nuisance and invasion of privacy than live solicitation calls, and such calls can be costly and inconvenient. The FCC also recognized that wireless customers are charged for incoming calls whether they pay in advance or after the minutes are used.<sup>3</sup>

13. On January 4, 2008, the FCC released a Declaratory Ruling wherein it confirmed that autodialed and prerecorded message calls to a wireless number by a creditor (or on behalf of a creditor) are permitted only if the calls are made with the “prior express consent” of the called party.<sup>4</sup> The FCC “emphasize[d] that prior express consent is deemed to be granted only if the wireless number was provided by the consumer to the creditor, and that such number was provided during the transaction that resulted in the debt owed.”<sup>5</sup>

14. Under the TCPA and pursuant to the FCC’s January 2008 Declaratory Ruling, the burden is on Defendant to demonstrate that Plaintiff provided express consent within the meaning of the statute.

15. Furthermore, on July 10, 2015, the FCC released a Declaratory Ruling wherein it was confirmed that a consumer has the right to revoke “prior express consent” using any reasonable method, including orally or in writing, even if a consumer previously consented to such communication.<sup>6</sup>

16. Likewise, the Mobile Marketing Association declared in October 2012 in its U.S. Consumer Best Practices for Messaging that “[a] subscriber must be able to stop participating and receiving messages from any program by sending STOP to the short code used for that program...” and “... if the subscriber sent STOP or STOP ALL to the short code, they are opted out of all programs they were enrolled in on that short code.”

17. A text message is deemed to be a call under the TCPA. Satterfield v. Simon & Schuster, Inc., 569 F.3d 946, 955 (9th Cir. 2009).

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

18. On September 9, 2015, despite a lack of consent or the existence of a prior relationship with Defendant, Plaintiff began receiving unsolicited text messages to his wireless phone from the short code 608-91, a number owned by CSC Holdings.

19. Specifically, on September 9, 2015, Defendant set a text message to Plaintiff’s wireless phone stating, “Your mobile number was added for Optimum ID joan 2325. Send STOP to opt out, HELP for info.”

20. In order to ascertain who was sending Plaintiff this nuisance text, Plaintiff sent the word “HELP” to the short code 608-91.

21. Thereafter, Defendant sent the following: “For fast and easy assistance, please visit optimum.net/support to live chat 24/7. StdMsgChrgsApply.”

22. Plaintiff then sent the word “STOP” to the short code 608-91.

23. In reply, Defendant sent the following, non-confirmatory text message, “Let us know which messages you wish to stop: Service Alerts-STOP SRVC, Appointment Alerts-STOP APPT.”

24. These unsolicited text messages placed to Plaintiff’s wireless telephone were placed via an “automatic telephone dialing system,” (“ATDS”) as defined by 47 U.S.C. § 227 (a)(1), which has the capacity to produce or store numbers randomly or sequentially, to dial such numbers, and to place text message calls to Plaintiff’s cellular telephone.

25. The telephone number that Defendant, or its agents, texted was assigned to a cellular telephone service for which Plaintiff incurred monthly charges pursuant to 47 U.S.C. § 227 (b)(1).

26. These text messages do not constitute calls for emergency purposes as defined by 47 U.S.C. § 227(b)(1)(A)(i).

27. Plaintiff did not provide Defendant or its agents prior express consent to receive unsolicited text messages pursuant to 47 U.S.C. § 227 (b)(1)(A). Moreover, even assuming that Plaintiff had previously consented to receive unsolicited text messages, Plaintiff, by replying “stop,” revoked any alleged prior express consent. Yet, Defendant still continued to send, and Plaintiff continued to receive, text messages.

28. Consequently, these text messages sent by Defendant or its agents violated 47 U.S.C. § 227(b)(1).

29. Under the TCPA and pursuant to the FCC's January 2008 Declaratory Ruling, the burden is on Defendant to demonstrate that Plaintiff provided express consent within the meaning of the statute.

CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

30. Plaintiff brings this action pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(b)(2) and 23(b)(3) on behalf of himself and on behalf of all others similarly situated ("the Class").

31. Plaintiff represents, and is a member of the Class, consisting of all persons within the United States who received any unsolicited text message from Defendant or its agents on their cellular telephones through the use of any automatic telephone dialing system as set forth in 47 U.S.C. § 227(b)(1)(A)(3), which text messages by Defendant or its agents were not made for emergency purposes or with the recipients' prior express consent, within four years prior to the filing of this Complaint through the date of final approval.

32. Defendant and its employees or agents are excluded from the Class. Plaintiff does not know the number of members in the Class, but believes the Class members number in the hundreds of thousands, if not more. Thus, this matter should be certified as a Class action to assist in the expeditious litigation of this matter.

33. Plaintiff and members of the Class were harmed by the acts of Defendant in at least the following ways: Defendant, either directly or through its agents, illegally contacted Plaintiff and the Class members via their cellular telephones by using unsolicited text messages, thereby harming Plaintiff and the Class members by causing them to incur certain cellular telephone charges for which Plaintiff and the Class members previously paid. Furthermore, as a result of its actions Defendant, either directly or through its agents, invaded the privacy of said Plaintiff and the Class members. Plaintiff and the Class members were damaged thereby.

34. This suit seeks only statutory damages and injunctive relief on behalf of the Class and it expressly is not intended to request any recovery for personal injury and claims related thereto. Plaintiff reserves the right to expand the Class definition to seek recovery on behalf of additional persons as warranted as facts are learned in further investigation and discovery.

35. The joinder of the Class members is impractical and the disposition of their claims in the Class action will provide substantial benefits both to the parties and to the Court. The Class can be identified through Defendant's records or Defendant's agents' records.

36. There is a well-defined community of interest in the questions of law and fact involved affecting the parties to be represented. The questions of law and fact to the Class predominate over questions which may affect individual Class members, including the following:

- a. Whether, within the four years prior to the filing of this Complaint through the date of final approval, Defendant or its agents sent text messages without the recipients' prior express consent (other than a text message made for emergency purposes or made with the prior express consent of the called party) to a Class member using any automatic telephone dialing system, to any telephone number assigned to a cellular telephone service;
- b. Whether the equipment Defendant, or its agents, used to send the text messages in question was an automatic telephone dialing system as contemplated by the TCPA;

- c. Whether Defendant, or its agents, systematically sent text messages to persons who did not previously provide Defendant with their prior express consent to receive such text messages;
- d. Whether Plaintiff and the Class members were damaged thereby, and the extent of damages for such violation; and
- e. Whether Defendant and its agents should be enjoined from engaging in such conduct in the future.

37. As a person that received at least one unsolicited text message to his cell phone without Plaintiff's prior express consent, Plaintiff is asserting claims that are typical of the Class. Plaintiff will fairly and adequately represent and protect the interests of the Class in that Plaintiff has no interest antagonistic to any member of the Class.

38. Plaintiff and the members of the Class have all suffered irreparable harm as a result of the Defendant's unlawful and wrongful conduct. Absent a class action, the Class will continue to face the potential for irreparable harm. In addition, these violations of law will be allowed to proceed without remedy and Defendant will likely continue such illegal conduct. Because of the size of the individual Class member's claims, few, if any, Class members could afford to individually seek legal redress for the wrongs complained of herein.

39. Plaintiff has retained counsel experienced in handling class action claims and claims involving violations of the Telephone Consumer Protection Act.

40. A class action is a superior method for the fair and efficient adjudication of this controversy because joinder of all parties is impracticable. Class-wide damages are essential to induce Defendant to comply with federal law. The interest of Class members in individually controlling the prosecution of separate claims against Defendant is small because the maximum statutory damages in an individual action for violation of privacy are minimal, especially given the burden and expense of individual prosecution of the complex litigation necessitated by Defendant's actions. Thus, it would be virtually impossible for the individual members of the Class to obtain effective relief from Defendant's misconduct. Even if members of the Class could sustain such individual litigation, it would still not be preferable to a class action, because individual litigation would increase the delay and expense to all parties due to the complex legal and factual controversies presented in this Complaint. By contrast, a class action presents far fewer management difficulties and provides the benefits of single adjudication, economy of scale, and comprehensive supervision by a single Court. Economies of time, effort, and expense will be fostered and uniformity of decisions ensured.

41. Defendant has acted on grounds generally applicable to the Class, thereby making final injunctive relief and corresponding declaratory relief with respect to the Class as a whole appropriate.
